

2022 CASEA Nominations Committee Report
to
The Canadian Association for the Study of Educational Administration (CASEA) AGM
Monday, May 16, 2022

Nominations Committee Members: Shelleyann Scott, Abdoulaye Anne, Jackie Kirk

First Call for Nominations: April 4, 2022

Second Call for Nominations: April 13, 2022

The committee received nominations from Pamela Osmond-Johnson for President, Patricia Briscoe for Second Vice President, and Aloysius Maduforo for Student Representative. Therefore, there are many positions yet to fill on the executive.

The vacant positions will need to be filled for the Association to run smoothly and to ensure that we have a conference prepared for 2023 at York University in Toronto. Therefore, we will all need to work together to try to fill the vacant positions with individuals who are prepared to dedicate their time and effort to the continued success of the organization. Perhaps, we could accept nominations from the floor of the AGM. If that is not successful, we will have to find ways to fill these positions following the AGM.

Motion: I move to acclaim the following candidates:

Nominations for CASEA Executive

President

Pam Osmond-Johnson

Pamela Osmond-Johnson is an Assistant Professor of Educational Leadership with the Faculty of Education at the University of Regina and is currently the Associate Dean, Student Services and Undergraduate Programs. She has served on the CASEA executive for the past four years, first as Second Vice-President and most recently as First Vice-President. Her scholarship focuses heavily on the work of teachers and teachers' organizations, in the areas of professional learning and educational reform more broadly. In 2017 she was the recipient of the EdCan Pat Clifford Award for Emerging Scholars in Canadian Education.

1st Vice President

Patricia Briscoe

Patricia Briscoe is an Associate Professor at Niagara University Ontario. She teaches in the Master of Educational Leadership and Teacher Education program and an adjunct professor in the Graduate program, Faculty of Education, Queens University. Patricia Briscoe is an Associate Professor at Niagara University Ontario. She teaches in the Master of Educational Leadership and Teacher Education program and is an adjunct professor in the Graduate Program, Faculty of Education, Queens University.

She has a long history with CASEA. Patricia has served as the CASEA Secretary/Treasurer for two consecutive terms (2016-2020) and in her second year as 2nd Vice President (2020-22). As well, in 2020, she joined the Commonwealth Council for Educational Administration and Management (CCEAM) executive as a Business Manager and recently joined the CATE Conference Planning Committee for the 2023 World Federation of Associations for Teacher Education (WFATE).

Graduate Student Representative

Aloysius Maduforo

Aloysius Maduforo, is a Doctoral (Ph.D.) student at the Werklund School of Education, University of Calgary. He is studying Educational Research with a specialization in Leadership. Aloysius is also a registered dietitian and holds a Ph.D. in Human Nutrition from the University of Nigeria. He has had work experience in the hospital, community, and academic settings. Aloysius was a lecturer at the Department of Nutrition and Dietetics, University of Nigeria, Nsukka. Aloysius's research interest is in leadership, policy, and governance in the health and educational sectors, diet-related non-communicable diseases, community nutrition, and dietetics, maternal and child nutrition, food consumption studies, and food composition. Aloysius has held several leadership positions including President, Postgraduate Student Association, Department of Nutrition and Dietetics University of Nigeria Nsukka, Enugu State Coordinator of Academic and Research Network for Scaling up Nutrition in Nigeria (ARN-SUNN), Chairman, ICT Committee of Faculty of Agriculture, University of Nigeria Nsukka, Vice-Chairman, Dietitians Association of Nigeria, Nsukka Chapter, National Vice President, Dietitians Association of Nigeria, among others. Aloysius belongs to several professional bodies including the Graduate Student Association of the University of Calgary, Academic Staff Union of Universities (ASUU) Nigeria, American Society for Nutrition, Nutrition Society United Kingdom (NS), Nutrition Society of Nigeria (NSN), Academic and Research Network for Scaling up Nutrition in Nigeria (ARN-SUNN), Dietitians Association of Nigeria (DAN). Aloysius has authored several peer-reviewed articles in international journals. His recent book chapter discussed "Health Sector Industrial Labour Troubles in Nigeria: Implication for Leaders and Other Stakeholders".