

Senior Lecturer in Educational Administration and Leadership

College of Humanities and Social Sciences Palmerston North

For more than 80 years, Massey University has helped shape the lives and communities of people in New Zealand and around the world. Its forward-thinking spirit, research-led teaching, and cutting-edge discoveries make Massey New Zealand's defining University. Our Institute of Education programmes cover the spectrum of Graduate and Postgraduate professional education pathways in Education.

We are now seeking to appoint a Senior Lecturer in Educational Administration and Leadership. You will have teaching and research experience, especially in educational administration and leadership and preferably within a university or other tertiary teaching environment. You will also be expected to serve as academic programme co-ordinator for a fixed-term. You will join our forward-thinking, research led Educational Administration and Leadership programme, possessing a relevant qualification in this area. You will contribute to both academic and co-ordination aspects of the programme and develop an active research programme relevant to Educational Administration and Leadership.

Massey University is committed to being a Te Tiriti-led organisation. It is therefore expected that you will have, or be committed to developing, an appreciation of the Aotearoa New Zealand context and a demonstrable empathy towards the needs and aspirations of Maori. The Institute of Education is actively committed to develop a diverse staffing profile that matches New Zealand society as a whole.

You will possess a relevant Doctoral degree relevant to the area of Educational Administration and Leadership and an appropriate record of research and publications.

Enquiries of an academic nature can be directed to Professor John O'Neill, Institute of Education, Massey University, telephone +64 6 356-9099 extn 84384 or via email at j.g.oneill@massey.ac.nz

Indicative interview dates for this role are either 24 October or 8 November 2019.

Closing date: 15 November 2019
