The Faculty of Education invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank, commencing 1 July 2022.

The Description

Applicants should hold a doctorate or be close to the completion of this degree. The disciplinary background of the candidate may include Educational Technology, Learning Sciences with a technology and design focus, or a closely related field with a clear concentration on the application of technology to learning and instruction in K-12 classroom contexts. We are particularly interested in candidates who have a broad mastery of scholarship in Educational Technology involving theory-informed design and use of technological innovations to support teaching and learning.

The successful candidate will be able to teach courses about technology integration in both the BEd and graduate programs. Experience teaching at the K-12, BEd, and graduate level will be considered an asset. Preference will be given to candidates with a background in quantitative research methodologies.

Workload for the position includes teaching and academic advising, scholarly and/or professional activity and internal and external collegial service. Salary and benefits are in accordance with the Collective Agreement with the Mount Saint Vincent University Faculty Association. This position is subject to final budgetary approval.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy and interests, description of a program of research and research interests, sample publications, and contact information for three references. The department will begin considering applications on 12 January 2022. The position will remain open until filled.
