
Two-year Limited Term Lecturer

The College of Education at the University of Saskatchewan invites applications from qualified individuals for a full time, 2-year, limited term Lecturer position in the Department of Educational Administration. The successful candidate will hold a teaching intensive position (8 courses over three terms per year) at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The candidate will also be expected to contribute to the culture, community and function of the Department of Educational Administration by undertaking relevant administrative activities, including meetings and committee work within the Department and the College.

The Department of Educational Administration has one of the largest cohorts of graduate students at the University of Saskatchewan. We deliver Master's, PhD and EdD programs that focus on educational administration in the following contexts: Pre-K-12 educational systems; Indigenous educational jurisdictions; post-secondary institutions; health professions education; public and social sectors; and, international education systems.

The Department offers undergraduate and graduate programming in the areas of: Educational policy, governance, finance, ethics, and law; educational research methods; educational system improvement, organizational development, and effectiveness; leadership for the enhancement of teaching and learning; leadership in rural education; and, international and comparative education studies.

The Department's recent implementation of curriculum and instructional renewal has resulted in innovative new programming at the Master's and Doctoral level. The department is also proud to maintain long-established partnerships with community agencies and cross-campus departments. Community engagement opportunities within the Department and College include those facilitated through the Saskatchewan Educational Leadership Unit (SELU), the editorial office of the Canadian Journal of Educational Administration and Policy (CJEAP) and others.

The University of Saskatchewan's main campus is situated on Treaty 6 Territory and the Homeland of the Métis. The University of Saskatchewan is located in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, a city with a diverse and thriving economic base, a vibrant arts community and a full range of leisure opportunities. The University has a reputation for excellence in teaching, research and scholarly activities and offers a full range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs to a student population of over 25,000.

Qualifications

We are seeking candidates that have an earned doctoral degree in educational administration, educational leadership, or equivalent. Preference will be given to those who have successful field experience, in particular, teaching and administration in pre-K-12 or post-secondary environments, and interest in working with Indigenous and international communities.
