

As part of a major expansion of its research programs, the Faculty of Education at the University of Ottawa invites applications for a tenure-track position.

Title of the Position: Numeracy in Francophone Minority Context (Teaching in the Francophone Programs)

We are looking to fill a position for a professor whose field of research focuses on numeracy in Francophone minority context, particularly in the domains of intercultural approaches to learning or evaluation of mathematics in French minority language context. The selected candidate must have excellent knowledge of Canada's Francophone minority communities. He or she must be able to offer courses to teacher candidates who will teach mathematics in Ontario's French-language schools. With equal skills, preference will be given to the candidate who is able to offer courses for teaching at the intermediate and senior divisions.

Location of work: University of Ottawa, Faculty of Education

Applications should be submitted electronically through the University of Ottawa Academic Careers website at the following link: : J1222-0432

For more information, please contact: Anne-Marie Dionne, Vice-Dean of Undergraduate Programs, Faculty of Education, vdprog@uottawa.ca.